Organization and Mission — Field

1002D SPECIAL SECURITY SQUADRON (1002SSS)

This regulation gives the mission, organization, and responsibilities of the 1002d Special Security Squadron, Falcon Air Force Station (AFS), Colorado, and implements AFR 23-51.

1. Mission. Provides an effective physical security program for the protection of the resources located at Falcon AFS. The 1002d Special Security Squadron is responsible for identifying, implementing, and reviewing all physical, industrial, information, and personnel security requirements necessary to support both normal and emergency operations at Falcon AFS. The unit is responsible for coordinating with all contract, military, and DOD agencies performing tasks, supporting tasks or supporting the Falcon AFS mission to make sure security requirements are understood and adhered to. The 1002d Special Security Squadron monitors the construction and installation of all physical and electronic security aids for Falcon AFS to make sure the construction is according to the intended specifications and requirements of the physical security program.

2. Organization. The 1002d Special Security Squadron is a major command controlled unit assigned to the 3d Space Support Wing.

3. Responsibilities. The Commander:

a. Supervises and directs security police activities to include physical security of aerospace weapons and components, installation vehicle and personnel circulation control to include issuance of restricted area badges, on-site patrol activities to include traffic control, and protection of resources.

b. Manages the organization, training, and employment of assigned personnel.

c. Collects data and prepares and analyzes reports on security matters.

d. Establishes an effective program for motor vehicle registration.

e. Advises and helps unit security managers in all phases of the security program.

f. Manages storage and accountability of weapons assigned to this security squadron.

g. Manages the USAF information security, personnel security, industrial security, wartime security programs, and security education and motivation programs.

h. Manages the Resource Protection Program.

i. Evaluates on-site contractor performance within the scope of security-related issues.

4. Relationships to Other Units or Agencies. The Commander may establish liaison with other Falcon AFS units on matters relating to standardization and mission-related matters. The Commander may also communicate with other agencies on mission related matters.
